

Once in awhile something happens that turns you around completely and brings you face to face with grief again.

In spite of how much you've grown you find yourself back to square one.

*You wonder if you have the strength
to go through it again.*

*Your only choice
is to live with it
or die.*

You begin again.

Author Unknown